ARE GOLFERS MAD

What "The Centle Golfer" has to say About it.

From all wives, some daughters, and immediate personal friends of golfers the answer is emphatically, as the curt Minister of the Crown puts it, "in the affirmative." Most non-golfers hold the same view, though many are too considerate to expressir. Some look with sympathetic compassion on the golfer as he passes, and, nudging their neighbours, whisper in chastened tones. "Lunatio!" Others, less mindful of the feelings of their fellowmen gibs loudly about "Maniaca!" Even my own wife betrayed her private view once in a most ingenuous manner. X ..

very smart young journalist, had come down to the sesside to stay with us. He had scarcely swallowed his first meal before I suggested that he should walk around 802 the course. Anxious to please, he agreed. In order to lend variety to the preceedings. I gave him a light iron and a stray " gutty" which I had in my bag. Being a good PAID-UF CAPITAL $10,000,000 cricketer and tennis player, his eye was in, and he did uncommonly well. When I got home I sa'd to my wife-not in his #20,250,000 hearing, of conceq-" X, will make a golfer." "Yes," said she sweetly, "he has that recuous look!" With the gentle touch of the female hand she got one in there which made up for a lot of things. THE RESPER. I ong have I half suspected that we golfers are all mad and allowed to amuse ourselves by wandering about golf courses -so that we might not do worse things. But my worst fears were confirmed only yesterday. I had gone to the office of a hotel on the South Coast to get a weekly ticket, the hotel having quite a useful little nine holes laid out in its own grounds. The young lady in the office marked my ticket as from "August 24th to August Bist." The other girl in the office, looking over her shoulder, said with sweet accribity "My dear, you've given the gentleman eight days!" "No, darling," said the first girl; twenty-four and seven are thirty-one i" "Yes, love," replied the other girl, "but that is eight days. Count it this way : 24-25-26-27-28-29-301

66 There! That's seven days! See?" "Oh, so it is," said the first girlmust count it that way in future." "Yes, do," said the other girl; "I're already had complaints about your giving eight days for seven from the Keeper!" "The Keeper!" Poor girl, she memt the Professional. But I went away musing to myself whether the mistake had not

I myself know a man who passes from my transfer at their option balances of bunker to bunker, repeating the same $100 or more to the HONGKONG AND weird and astonishing performance on SHANGHAI BANK, to be placed on each. He makes a long and carefully FIXED DEPOSIT as 4 PER CHIT. per one slaborate stroke. If this fails he falls foriously on the ball, striking it with the For the Hongkong and Shanghal rapidity of a Maxim gun again and again and again, until it is hopslessly burred and gashed, calling down with each hysterical blow the most fearful imprecations upon the suffering and unoffending object of his suger. Is this, I ask again, a mark of FLING HIS DRIVER IN. Then there is W. In private life . church warden, a generous subscriber to the League of Mercy, a kind father, and a tender husband. And yet at the fifthwhere you have to drive over the pondif he perchance tops his ball into the water, as he most times does, W. at once proceeds. with a swing that otherwise applied would soon make him a plus man, to fling his driver in after it! W. has indeed been known, when doing an unusually bad round, to throw the whole bag of clubsints the pond after the errant ball! In this, I ask once more, a mark of sanity? Finally, not to multiply instances-a proceeding the opportunity for which, slas! is bounteous beyond measure—there is P. He might be a Gold Stick in Waiting, so douce and polished is his manner. To 42 ladies especially P. is courtesy personified. And yet if over his wife, or daughter, or both should walk round the course with us I known beforehand that P. will make a beast of himself in a way that would put a Billingsgate porter casily into the shade. At the first duffed shot P. turns to his lady companions with a look of ineffable resignation, and asks. "Why scill you women venture upon a golf course ?" (As a matter of fact, only three minutes before he would take no refusal to his importunate plea that they should walk round with us, even though his

Although the game is thus yet young P. glares around as if his fair relatives were his deadly enemies, and bites out from between his teeth, "Just what I expected directly I saw you two bent upon following us! Miss P. nudges her mother into protesting ailence; P. picks out and loses a stroke, and after many a muttered growl, chips his ball successfulls on to the first green. To halve the hole he must now get a fifteen-foot putt down. He goes on all fours and squints from the ball to the hole, and repeats the performance from the hole to the hall. He smooths the green elaborately with the back of his hand, addresses the ball five or six times only to unband again in order to creep forward and pick up imaginary wormcasts and smooth away obstanles that exist only in the fovored brain of the now highly anxious and perspiring performer. At last the psychological moment has been reached; the putter strikes the ball; it glides granefully over the well-kept award towards the hote, P, standing the while a stricken picture of intense apprehension. The little white globe runs direct up to the hole, is the eighteenth part of a penny weight too strong, hits the back of the hole obliquely, kicks up, wavers on the edge momentarily. and finally sinks to rest in a microscenic depression in the grow on the very lip of the hole

THE VOLUNTEER CAMP.

The most important drill yesterday was the rehear-al for the King's Birthday Parade. All ranks marshalled on the parade ground about 4.45 and were put through their facings by the Commandant -Major U. G. Pritchard. The firing of the feu de joie was not as good as it might have been, but after several rounds had been fired the result was much better,

The march past -that spectacular event which is the object of great attention at the parade was carried out in fairly good

The evening was spent quietly, as usual the Y. M. C. A, tent being well patronised A few enthusiastic songsters assembled in the mess tent and enlivened the night wit their singing.

camp was apparently wrapped in slumber, ad silence reigned around, the notes of the bugle burst forth. It was the fire alarm! From all directions mon came tumbling out clad in all manner of cos tumes. Some were minus their tunics, wearing night attire, all, or most, were bareheaded, while some were fully dressed, and this latter fact made one wonder why they were dressed so long after "lights out." The men fell-in in their respective companies on the parade ground in front of the canteen and were marched off to the rear, where a matshed was supposed to be burning. Buckets of water were handed out, but they were not needed as the alarm was a false one. A few minutes' respite was allowed the men after the dismiss, and once again "Lights out ang out.

The alarm, however, had roused a num ber who could not again successfully woo slumber and they roamed about camp untiwell on to morning. This morning the early parades with the maxims and 15 pounder guns were well

STUDIES IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Last evening the Rev. C. H. Hickling entirely in the wrong; for, as long as there delivered in the Union Church, the third lecture of this course, taking as his subject | mentally modify, and which follow one Reality." He spoke as follows :---What is exactly mean' by Reality has is a world of objects or things, having a

been under discussion by many learned minds In the Christian Science system man's welfare is bound up with casting aside what he commonly assumes as Real. Mrs Eddy is strongly insistent upon a sharp distinction between Real and Unreal. It ie, therefore, remarkable that the nowhere gives a definition of Reality. She simply identifies it with all that is of Mind and Spirit; whilst all that is called matter is unred. Hence the only explanation we have is in the words Mind and Matter. The changes are rung backward and forward ; but instead of definition or rescription we have only repetition. We have already drawn attention to the difficulty of eliciting anything definite and clear from thoughts after Him. In other words our bese terms as they are pand.

Follo ving the lines of a bet ful enelysis, we will therefore, consider the various ways is which Recitty can be understood, no far he they portain ! this unbject, Roslits may be regarded as (1) That which is paramount as opposed to that which changes. In this renew he Rest would apply to the underlying Unity in When the clare were interpreted to view of its manifestations in variety Good in His Universe (2) This chick is about liste Truth, as opposed to that which in relative. Such would be the teaching of Josus in contrast with the belief of His day that the Sun moved round the Earth I there two meanings Reality is applied to the Spiritual rather than to the Physical World, (3) That which is of things which support in contract with he Ideal and the Spiritual Such would be the occurrence of ware in contrast with the ideal of Universal Arbitration. The mon in the atrect prafers the reality of his morthly income rather than the secralistic ideal of absolute communism (4) That which belongs to the in ultimate'y derived from the Supremy world which we can touch and see and verify | Roulity and in therefore touch other or C in contrast with imaginations, fracies and mirapos. (3) Those surroundings which no mere mental effort can change, and inte which others coming will have a like or. periones. At the present moment we find our elve in a space on tosed by malls, floor and reef. No effort of mind only will change or annihilate these. Reality, in phy, the sender and receiver use the same these three meanings, concerns the world which we are in touch with by means of the senses, just as the first two apply to that

"hich we apprehend by ideas. In which of there soners does Mrs Eddy use the word? It is used in the first sense when it is affirmed that God alone is the Rual. It is used in the second sense when of his developed intellectual nature, then it is stated that "Knowledge gained from matter, and through the five sonses, is only more as it really exists. True our know. temporal . . . and symbolises all that in ladge of the universe is limited and evil and perishable," (274); that "all our relative; but that is only what might be ledge, (275); that "the five physical senses are the avenues and instruments of human error," (293); and that "delusion arises from the false testimony of material sense," (3)1). These two meanings do not exclude one another. But do they exclude other meanings? Cannot the Physical and Transitory share Reality with the Spiritual and Permanent? Mrs Eddy says, No; the world of matter is altogether unreal. Cur waking experiences give us no more sense of reality than do our dreams, probably less, (249 250). This would dispose of the third definition. Her depial of the fourth is equally emphatic, as also of the fifth. The fact that a brick wall offers an impedimento one's passage in that direction, and that we must accommodate ourselves to such an obstacle, or alter it by material force-all this is denied. This denial is carried up to its legical conclusion in the denial of the human limitation of life, which we call Mrs Eddy denies in toto what we ordinarily regard as limitations. The laws of " birth, growth, maturity, and decay, (190), she declares to be mere illusions. The law of cause and, affect is denied as when exerise is stated to contribute nothing to the development of muscle, (199), all, all these laws and limitations are downright | physical phenomens. But why should they? delusions. There is only one Reality and that is the Divine Principle.

We have already shown that the assertion of unity does not exclude variety. Nay, the probability is that the Supreme Reality includes reality in the lower sonse, as described in the last two definitions, rather than renders it impossible.

In analysing this Christian Science doctrine we may take reality according to the fifth definition as that which is most stremuously denied.

By some means the human race has come to act as though there were actual external objects, and to calculate according to certain fixity of things. e.g. We believe it to be impossible that two things should occupy exactly the same space at the same moment; that a person should pass through other. a solid stone wall; that a man should be in Landon one day and in Hongkong the next. How mankind has come to have those fixed beliefs universally, Mrs Eddy does not explain. Whence come these fixities? really a question, requiring patience in answering. It is on account of these objects and we come to think of them as realities. We may, with Borkoloy, regard all experiences as mental, or say, with Kaut, that there we cannot actually deliver ourselves from thorn. Undoubtedly all we know of the world consists of mental sansations and conceptions, and as truly all these laws may | live and move and have our being-all our be mental, but the net result is that we being, wholly. find ourselves in a world of objects which mental processes alone are poweriess "Science and Health," Start thousand

THE HEARTS' ELEVEN. The defeat of the Hearts at Parkhead or Saturday last was one of the severest they have over received from the Celtic. This time the Edinburgh team did not rise to the occasion, as they have so often done before, and they were soundly beaten by an all-round superior eleven. It is no necessary to say much more about Saturday's game than that the Hearts' forwards with the exception of Walker, who is now playing as well as five years ago-were absolutely useless, and that, on the contrary, there was not a single passenger in the Park-head eleven.

The Heart of Mid-Lothian backs are playing up better than was expected, but the forwards are a great disappointment. Of course, it is only blind infatuation that sees in the present Tynecastle eleven a great combination. Within the last two years practically a new eleven has been got together, and only last year the team lost the best outside loft and the best goalkeeper-us many thought-in Scotland. Such drastic changes must leave their mark on an eleven unless the club's "spotters of talent" show a preternatural prescience; and the Tynecastle way always has been to find one good man out of fifty present team - the half-backs-weigh them up carefully, and then contemplate some of the half-back tries that have done duty for the Hearts. Don't go any farther back than Begbie or Key, Marshall or Buick and Hogg; and say if these men were not the superiors, individually and as combinations, of the men now doing duty for the club. It is clear that if the reputation of ynecastle is to be saved, the club officials have to bestir themselves. All last year appreciated by those who have had experithe Hearts' supporters looked for the ence of them. The sooner these difficulties are faced, the better for the club, and for football in Edinburgh. THE 'HIBERNIANS' LUCK.

Consider the strongest part of th

While the Hearts have been steadily Hibernians have been picking them up, but the person who, like the gentleman at one wonders how long the luck of the Hankow, thinks he can drive a coach and Hibernians is to continue. MUNUKONG, 1 COMPANIES ORDINANCE.

A Defence.

A wall-informed correspondent wrote recently to the China Times, Tientsin, as follows: -You quoted recently from a Hankow newspaper a long extract, the hurden of which was the inefficiency of the Hongkong Ordinance of 1865 as a protection for shareholders against fraud. The Hankow newspaper's opinion seemed based on somewhat scauty knowledge, admittedly a dangerous thing. It is true the Ordinance is not a complete guarantee against frand. The Binai Ordin. ance of B. C.2000 which runs. shalt do no murder," is not a complete guarantee against murder. It may easily putting "an ounce of lead" into someone. as the Shanghai celebrity Hyndman would say. "The Ordinance itself," says the Hankow authority speaking of the Hong kong article, "gives a loophole for fraud, and if watters were looked into, more then one company has taken advantage of it, and many more are looked on with 'suspicion." The Hankow writer than proceeds to quote one case -no more. The fact is that the Hongkong system of registering limited companies is the best, most convenient and most businesslike in the Far East. It is not perfect, Hongkong being subject to the usual limitations of frail bumanity, and like the 10 Commandregistration arrangements are so far advantageous that me chants and capitalists of all THRY ARE nationalities avail themselves of it. Companies as varied in nationality and purpose as Arnhold, Karberg and Co., the Grapd Botel des Wagon Lits, and many others by no menus exclusively British, avail visions, and generally speaking it may be said that the companies registered under British law at Hongkong, the nearest available British territory, are quite on a level with average joint-stock companies in the east, probably a good deal superior if accurate comparison could be made.

Furthes, it is true that various provisions of the Ordinance are constantly diaregarded by companies carrying on business at places outside the colony. The comparative remoteness leads to neglect. It is quite untrue, however, to suggest that this fact is ignored by the authorities at Hongkong. the last three months a notice was published in the Government Gazette at Hongkong, and circulated, I believe, among the secretaries of distant companies registered at that place, from which it may be inferred that the authorities intend to see that provisions of the Ordinance are in future complied with. Of late DOCKS. years the Registrar of Companies has shown a greater tendency to insist on the due observance of the formalities required by the Ordinance. The more one looks into the Hankow edusion, the more one sees that it is written in ignorance. "The name of a British Registered Liability Company some time ago," it says, " was held in high respect in Chira, but at the present moment it is looked upon as a thing to be avoided." Yet a glanco at any shere list shows that the most remunerative and highly quoted shares are those of companies Ir. be had at the "China -Mail Office registered at Hongkong. "Even British Consuls . . are often asked to give protection to these bogus companies, they knowing well that there is no British interest in the show; they have to do something, however, on the strength of the Hongkong registration certificate." confess I de not know what nonsense means. "Many registered companies have gone on working for years without giving any returns of their doings to the Regiatrar." It may be; they are not likely to go on many years more. The Ordinance of 1865, section 30, provides :-

1. - Every company under this Ordinance having a capital divided into shares One of the Best Sketches of Formosa Life shall once at least in every year make a list of all persons who, on the 14th day succeeding the day on which the ordinary general meeting. . . is held, are are members of the company.

2. -The list shall state the names, addresses and occupations of all the members therein mentioned, and the number of shares held by each of them, and shall contain a summary specifying the following particulara

The amount of capital of the company, the number of shares taken up from the commencement of the company to the date of the summary, the amount of calls made received and ditto unpaid, total amount of shares forfeited, and finally the names, addresses and occupations of persons who have ceased to be members since the last Wyndham Street. list. Penalty in default of these particulars, $100 for each day of the default, payable by the company, and the same sum payable personally by overy director and manager of the company who know!
